

nowadays & I have learned to like to see it, even many young men take great pains to keep their hair & a certain amount of personal pride I think commendable if they don't get vain over it. I expect the Y.M. have reading courses & then the B. lessons & the social contact with such as attend these gatherings helps to develop & give richness into the lives of all participating. I meet lots of nice individuals & converse with them nicely on our doctrines & many can see we have more than others have & many will come to get knowledge of the fullness of the Gospel. Many thousands even Cal. now are members & there is to be 2 more stakes organized soon making 5 stakes. I think it is fine for every young person to become acquainted with the doctrines, as to be able to teach it to others & especially to live it ones self, nothing equals it if put into every day life.

When we consider that we have all the same attributes that God has & that it is made possible for us to become perfect as he is & become a joint heir with Jesus Christ it enough to make us fear lest we slip & fall short thru or because of the weakness of Mortality, we all need the help & mercy of the Lord in our behalf. we need to cooperate with him in our own behalf. all blessings are predicated on obedience to law. & we all have our agency & a consciousness of right & wrong. we should have a purpose in life & a desire to attain to it
